

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A semiconductor laser element, enhanced in light output power without decreasing the reliability, has a window structure including window regions wider in bandgap than the emission region of the laser, in which the bandgap of the rear window region is narrower than the bandgap of the front window region.

10